Shishu Bharti: A Beacon Of Light

In the mid-20th Century, a young inspiring industrialist, Sri Harihar Bayanwala, who was deeply engrossed in a number of different businesses, decided to open a private school for the children of Forbesganj. He was a busy man; an active member of All Bihar Rice Mills Association, Jute Dealers Association and Secretary of Forbesganj College besides several other social activities. He was living his life to the fullest. He decided to change the face of education in and around Forbesganj, and a new era started. He believed in, "Be the Change you want to see in the world." And today he is an excellent example of the above motto. This all started because of one small incident. One day while returning back home from work, he saw About 30 small children sitting on a shabby mat under a tree, and the teacher was punishing a student with a stick. This made him think, is this the education the future of India deserves? He pondered over it a lot in the next few days, and decided to provide a decent education to the children. Many people have the means and resources to do something for society but very few actually do something. There was no private school in the town at that time, and the municipal school started from the fourth standard. Due to the poor condition of education in and around Forbesganj, many people, including him, sent their children to far off places for better education.

After discussing with his colleagues and family members, on the 4th of September 1965 in his own office space, he started with 4 children with the aim of giving them a higher and better level of education. At that time, no one knew that this seed he was planting would grow into a large, gigantic tree. As the word spread, the number of children also grew, and in the fourth year he had to shift this school in the nearby building due to the lack of space. His wife Lalita Devi, who is herself very well educated, decided to help her husband on this noble path and joined in the management of the school.

Under their excellent supervision, more and more children started coming in. They engaged the very best teachers to keep up with the number of growing children. In 1988, the school had a total strength of 400 students, spread on a wide campus with numerous teachers. Till this time, the school was only up to the fourth standard. They were approved by the government in the same year to extend it upto eighth standard. Sections after sections were introduced, and in no time the total strength grew to almost 700 students. The era of private schools had begun. Soon, many private schools opened one after another as parents also grew conscious of their children's future. Today, there are more than 100 private schools in this small town, and this started because one man decided that it was time to change. Fighting against all odds, he and his wife have succeeded.

Today, ShishuBharti is a well-established and renowned school located in the heart of the town, where the children are provided top-notch education. The number of girls exceed the number of boys by a huge difference. Smt. Lalita Devi has made it a point to make the school a safe zone for the girls; it is a school especially where no nonsense is tolerated. It also has a girl's hostel directly under her supervision, and every year the number of girls staying there is increasing. This couple is still managing the affairs of the school, where Mr. Harihar Bayanwala takes care of the administration and Smt. Lalita Devi looks after the quality of education and welfare of teachers personally.

This school has a very strong alumni, and many prominent businessman, doctors, engineers, army personnel, and chartered accountants have started their ladder of education from this institute. This year is the golden jubilee year of this school, as it will be completing 50 years. This school conveys to us a simple message: "Life is not about what you couldn't do so far, it's about WHAT YOU STILL CAN..."

Message from Chairman Desk

Dear Students and Parents,

Education cannot be confined to schools, colleges and universities. It is a life-long process. What we know and do and need to know and do, cannot all be taught by any school. But the school performs a very big service. It equips the learner with basic tools of learning and provides him with the fundamentals of knowledge so that the learner reaches a stage where he is capable of learning on his own. In this sense, the teacher be a mere giver of knowledge and turns a facilitator. The school transforms itself from a place of learning the three R's to a centre of human resource development where, in addition to normal routine transaction of curriculum, the innate talents and abilities of the learners are unearthed, develop and brought to fruition. They learn how to learn and act beyond the prescribed curriculum and apply their knowledge to innovate and creative activities. Education, then, no longer remains preparation for a three hour examination but is transformed into process of modification of thought processes and behaviour. It is excellence and quality of education which can produce leaders in every field who will take the country forward. In this scenario, the private sector assumes an important role. It has the expertise, the resources, the faculty and the infrastructure to train young men and women who will place India in the front line of the most developed nations in the world.

New Pattern International School based on CBSE Curriculum. Having a proper time table and disciplined system it provides a congenial educational environment to aspirants coming from different social, cultural and economical background. Aspirants from different towns and villages are coming here to quench their educational thirst.

"Great men do but don't speak".

With Best Wishes,
N.M. Azad (B.A., B.Ed., LL.B)
Chairman
AI-Azad Educational and Welfare Trust
